4. Respective Advantages of Travel Agency Management in Mainland China, Taiwan and Hong Kong

4.1. The Advantages of Travel Agency Management in Mainland China

In mainland China, the Travel Agencies development is dominated by the government. It has unique advantages. Such as: direct and effective, information-rich, cash-rich and strong coordination advantages [7]. The government is accordance with the reality of the problems to make tourism industry development laws and policies to guide the sustainable and healthy development of the tourism industry. The government can effective coordination social forces and provides internal and external good environment for tourism development. The government can carry out large-scale investment to improve the tourism infrastructure and stimulate tourism consumption demand. Through the power of government can effectively protect tourism resources and timely stop certain violations and make effective punishment. The government can make policies to ensure tourism market orderly operation, promote enterprise legal management, makes the fair and free competition in the tourism market [8]. The government can take visitors as center for the establishment of nationwide tourism public service platform and satisfy the citizen tourism and leisure needs. It can provide high quality and inexpensive public tourism products and improve the supply of tourism products quality. Government departments can unify the tourism destination image; have enough material and financial resources for tourism promotion to the world, to enhance the national tourism image and reputation [9]. It can promote tourism cooperation and exchange between countries and regions. The government can make policies and regulations to carry out and implement effectively. It can effectively coordinate the contradictions and conflicts of interest in different areas of tourism, formulate unified tourism development planning, promote harmonious development of travel industry [10].

4.2. The Advantage of Travel Agency Management in Hong Kong

The official sector and industry organizations are co-management travel agents in Hong Kong. Tourism management authority in each function set and allocation of both advocates mutual cooperation and also stressed operate independently of each other. There are fully reflected the market economy mode that operation of small government, big market, socialization and professional operation. The Hong Kong Tourism agency management structure is based on the development needs of the travel industry and the corresponding functions division. It was eventually formed after several reforms established. The main advantage is make the law gives the Travel Industry Council oversight authority and responsibility to manage and promote the tourism development. It can ensure the authority and effectiveness management of travel agencies and tour guides and promotional. The Travel Industry Council can operation funds pragmatic and in a flexible way to provide a strong economic support for the relevant departments to perform their duties. Members in Hong Kong’s tourism management mechanism are with broad representation. They come from different industries and sectors that help to arouse the enthusiasm of the relevant industries and organizations. It can conducive to the formation of professional and scientific decision-making. This organization also fully embodies the characteristics of high degree comprehensiveness and relevance of tourism industry. It can also conducive to promote the coordination management work. Tourism industry organizations in the rules of procedure conveniently and efficient can make a rapid response and positive measures to aim at the present problems in the tourism industry. It can maintain high efficiency of decision and strong executive ability.

4.3. The Advantage of Travel Agency Management in Taiwan

In Taiwan, the official department is the one which manage the travel agencies and gives full play to the function and role of industry association. Taiwan Tourism Bureau is the official management department. It can make the advantages of tourism management official. Such as: to develop reasonable plans of the island’s tourism development, develop policies and regulations to protect the tourism market operation order, develop various tourism services specifications and standards to protect quality of tourism services. Tourism Bureau through diversified promotion improve Taiwan’s tourism destination image. Tourism Bureau division some part rights to Taiwan Travel Security Association and let the association part can fully mobilize the enthusiasm of the work to provide opinions and suggestions for the government. It can play the intermediary role to association members’ views to the government reaction to safeguard the interests of the members. Help develop association self-discipline function to protect tourism service quality and safeguard the rights and interests of tourists. The industry association to standard the enterprises behavior can be better for enterprises to promote the healthy development of tourism industry.

5. Implications for the Development of China’s Travel Industry

Through comparison analysis of the three travel agency management system, there are some conclusions: Hong Kong and Taiwan have established independent industry associations. They don’t belong to any government department association. They have certain rights to protect their sources of funding and play the role of associations in the travel industry management. The mainland China has also set up the tourism industry association organizations. But the group is essentially a government affiliated institutions that accept the leadership of the National Tourism administration. The Tourist Association mostly held by leading government officials and fewer people from the industry [11]. Tourist Association’s activities are funded primarily from membership dues that lack of activity funds. Travel agency are join voluntarily and only a small part of the tourism enterprises to join in the association. The impact on the tourism industry of binding is small. The mainland China should strengthen the construction of travel industry associations and the role of Association. There are some suggestions towards mainland China travel agent development [12].
5.1. Strengthening the Construction of Travel Agency Association and Give Full Play to the Role of the Association

Government tourism departments should transfer some functions to the travel industry association. Government should be separated from the Tourist Association and maintain the independence of the Tourist Association. Government should grant Tourism Association corresponding supervisory powers and maintain their independence to work closely with each other. Such as: the supervision and management of travel agencies and tour guides can be handed over to the self-discipline management association and some micro transaction execution, technology can also let industry associations responsible for [13]. The government can transferred or entrusted some functions to the travel industry association. It can responsible for the tourism quality management, tour guide examination and training, travel industry standardization work, tourism industry survey, collect industry information and make industrial development planning [14].

5.1.1. Improve the Self-Discipline Mechanism of Travel Industry Association

Development and operation of Tourism Association has its own characteristics and laws. The planning and functions and the service procedures should accordance with the needs of the travel industry. The tourism industry association has its own characteristic. The association can management themselves by self-discipline, self-management and increasing the content of service association. To develop tourism association supervision and management system and mechanism based on democracy, equality, cooperation. Tourism association established daily office sector to provide timely and effective services to its members. Self-management of Travel Industry Association is more economical than the government which can effectively compensate for the lack of government management [15].

5.1.2. Vigorously Develop the Travel Agency Members

Government should ensure the independence of associations which can make it truly representative of the interests of the Association members. Learn travel agencies management system from the Travel Industry Council of Hong Kong and mandatory for travel agencies join the industry associations and improve the status of the travel industry associations. The members can play activities role in the organization. Actively seek tourism related enterprises of different industries to join the Tourism Association. The members of diversification can better coordinate all aspects to promote the tourism industry development [16]. In the fight for tourism enterprises to join the association that can be considered by pay membership dues level to different number of voting rights, strengthen the attraction of the industry association.

5.2. Increase Funding of Travel Agency Industry Organization

The government should provide funding assistance to association to protect the normal operation of tourism industry association. Lack of funds is the most important factor restricting the development of tourism industry associations and organization activities. On the one hand, government departments need to increase financial support; on the other hand, the needs of the tourism industry association to create a mechanism for sufficient funds to guarantee the normal operation of the association's activities and work. The tourism association can learn from Hong Kong to raise funds in a similar form of printing costs. The fund is a tourist compensation guarantee fund [5]. Companies do not have to pay additional costs which can reduce the burden on enterprises that have more money to innovative products.

5.3. Learn from Hong Kong and Taiwan Put the Quality Guarantee Deposit into the Tourism Association Management Category

Government can make the collection and management the quality guarantee deposit to the travel agency association management. It can improve the efficiency in the use of quality guarantee which can improve the efficiency in the use of quality guarantee. Learn from Hong Kong or Taiwan the management approach of the quality guarantee deposit. It is a part of the quality deposit paid by members of the association as the promotion funds.

5.4. Strengthen the Management of Travel Agency

All travel agents in Hong Kong must join the Travel Industry Council of Hong Kong. Taiwan has more than 90% of the travel agencies to join the Taiwan travel quality assurance association. Tourism Association can effectively monitor the travel agencies. It can make standard to management the travel agency industry. It can promote reasonable and fair market competition and safeguard the interests of the entire travel agency industry. This can ensure the service quality of travel agencies and improve service levels and destination tourism image. This can attract more tourists come. There are more than 20,000 travel agencies in Mainland China. There are only 1145 travel agencies participate in travel agents association. The travel agency less constrained and the vicious competition harmed the interests of the tourism industry. Tourism Industry Association needs to strengthen the management of travel agencies and promote travel industry better development.

6. Conclusion

According to the “Tourism Law”, the tourism industry association makes the industry management norms and service standards. The tourism industry association should manage the service quality of the members and organization’s occupation moral education and professional training. It can improve the quality of employees. This indicates that mainland China has to further reform the management system of tourism industry. It can promote better development of tourism industry and tourism industry association. It is very important to actively promote the construction of management system of China’s travel agency industry which should match tourism industry association’s management system. The government administration should change its management functions, management systems and management. It can promote the construction of tourism industry association and strengthen the organization management functions. The government should further establish and improve the travel industry policies and regulations system, and create a good legal environment for the healthy development of travel agency industry association. The travel agency industry association should expand funding sources and methods to provide financial support for the normal operation and professional management of the travel agency industry association.
